Paradigmatic Perspectives on Migration and Mobility

The first nccr – on the move Public Lecture Series investigates how contemporary academic research captures the rapidly changing realities of migration and mobility. The five speakers reflect and critically discuss influential approaches for understanding and explaining these salient questions. They address the regulatory framework, the economic drivers as well as resulting societal dynamics of inclusion and exclusion. How do markets regulate and react to migratory dynamics? What is the legitimizing power of human rights in contemporary migration regimes? How could the perspective of contested borders challenge the idea of sovereignty? By addressing often separately discussed questions in one Lecture Series, the nccr – on the move opens a debate about the interdisciplinary challenges and horizons in the field of migration studies.

About the nccr – on the move

The nccr – on the move is a national center of competence in research funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation. It seeks to stimulate the interdisciplinary field of migration research in Switzerland and develop new perspectives on the changing migratory reality. Managed from the University of Neuchâtel, the network comprises eighteen research teams from seven universities in Switzerland: The Universities of Neuchâtel, Basel, Bern, Fribourg, Geneva, Lausanne and Lucerne. It brings together research projects from social sciences, economics and law. The nccr – on the move offers some 40 doctoral and post-doctoral fellowships to highly talented researchers in the field.
