In 2015, about 1,000,000 people seek refuge in Europe, 40,000 make it to Switzerland, 10 are assigned to the wealthy municipality of Oberwil-Lieli. The mayor of the village Andreas Glarner wants to make an example and refuses to take in the refugees. In reaction Johanna, a young student, organizes creates an association to show their solidarity. When Glarner becomes a member of the National Council and head of migration for the Swiss People's Party. The Green Party member, Susanne Hochuli worries that fears and ideological debates are preventing us from finding clever solutions.

The screening of the movie as part of the Seminar "Les mobilités humaines dans le cinéma" will be followed by an open discussion with Sabine Gisiger, the filmmaker, moderated by Gianni D'Amato, the director of the nccr – on the move.
