

How Do Crisis Narratives Affect Migration?

1 How have migration and mobility been narrated in different countries?
How have the narratives evolved at local, national and supranational levels?

2 Do crises shift narratives on migration and mobility?

3 How do shifting narratives impact social behavior, political policies, and migration intentions?

4 How do narratives influence democratic legitimacy, justice and citizenship regimes to overcome inequalities?

CAROL PIERRE

HISTORY

Contrasting and analysing dominant media narratives with oral histories, this thesis explores the connection between migration, and narratives of crisis, in 1974 London. At the heart of political and financial fracture, this is a year in which net migration was negative.

MAARJA VOLLMER

SOCIOLOGY

Mapping of different actors and their narratives within the context of different crises in Europe and Kenya, Nigeria and South Africa, to see what are the consequences of changing narratives on public attitudes, migration intentions, and migration policies.

ANNA MARINO

POLITICAL THEORY

Investigating narratives of migration and mobility in contexts of so-defined crises in Southern European border societies to elaborate and reflect on what would constitute a just and desirable narrative of migration and mobility in such contexts.

IP LEADERS:

GIANNI D'AMATO
University of Neuchâtel

DIDIER RUEDIN
University of Neuchâtel

MATTEO GIANNI
University of Geneva

PROJECT COMMONALITIES (METHODS, TIME AND SPACE), CONTRIBUTIONS AND PLANNED OUTPUT

